How to find the Planetary Hours by Day and Night throughout the whole Year.

First, concerning the Planetary hours by day. Note, that the length of the day between the Sun-rising and Sun-setting, is divided into twelve equal parts; each of which parts is called a Planetary hour: so that the Planetary hours in Summer are longer then the usual hour, and the Planetary hours in Winter are less then the usual hour. Note also, that the six Planetary hours before Noon begin at the Sun-rising, and are numbered until Noon; the other six Planetary hours are numbered from Noon unto Sun-setting: all which is accordingly set down each moneth. The way to know the Planetary hours by day, is as followeth: First, having knowledge of that Planet which is Lord of the day, that Planet shall be Lord of the first hour, beginning at the Sun-rising. As for example: The Sun, for Sunday; the Moon, for Munday; Mars, for Tuesday; Mercury, for Wednesday; Jupiter, for Thursday; Venus, for Friday; Saturn, for Saturday. Now the first Planetary hour being known, as aforesaid, the next, and so forward, cometh in order, as they are situate in their sphears, whereof Saturn is the highest, Jupiter next beneath, Mars next, Sun next, Venus next, Mercury next, the Moon next and lowest: when you have past the Moon, you must begin again with Saturn, and then Jupiter, and so down as aforesaid. Example: January the sixth being Friday, Venus is Lord of the day and first hour, which is accounted from Sun-rising, being at eight a clock and one minute, until eight and 41 minutes. The second Planetary hour being Mercury, is from eight and 41 minutes, until nine and 21 minutes. The third Planetary is from nine and 21 minutes, until ten and one minute, being the Moon. The fourth Planetary hour is Saturn, which is from ten hours and one minnie, until ten and 40 minutes. The fifth Planetary hour is Jupiter, and so forward as aforesaid.

How

How to finde the Planetary Hours by Night.

YOU must take notice what signe the Sun is in by day, and how many degrees entered into the signe, the signe and degree opposite in the Zodiack shall perform your desire. Example: The sixth day of January aforesaid, the Sun is in 26 degrees of Capricorn, the signe and degree opposite is 26 degrees of Cancer, which you may find about the ninth of July; and so from four a clock and one minute, until five hours and 22 minutes, shall be the first Planetary hour by night, which is Mars. The second Planetary hour by night is called Sol, and ruleth from five hours 22 minutes, until six hours 40 minutes. The next is Venus, and so forward. The first six Planetary hours by day, being for the first six Planetary hours before midnight, (for the sixth day of January) the other six from after midnight, until Sun-rising.

The Signes are opposite unto each other as followeth.

1	Aries	♈	7	Libra	♎
2	Taurus	♉	8	Scorpio	♏
3	Gemini	♊	9	Sagittary	♐

To the Reader.

I Had thought to have published a Treatise concerning the great Conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter, had I not expected some abler Pen: For such great and notable Conjunctions must undoubtedly be attended with great and famous effects. I shall not at present be so copious in giving my judgment herein, as I intended, in regard I have many other things considerable to write. But perhaps some will object and say, Why should this last Conjunction be more considerable then those three Conjunctions going before, or those many which are to follow after in this Trigon? for we expect no less then seven before the change thereof. To such I answer, That whereas there were only nine Conjunctions of these grand Planets in the watry Trigon before-going, and by account there is usually ten; and that the tenth Conjunction came out of course, being the last Conjunction preceding this now in question, argueth that the effects of those two Conjunctions going before were from that time forward extinguished; and that this fourth Conjunction, being in the same sign wherein they were conjoynd at the first entrance into this fiery Trigon, doth as it were on fresh put into action those effects which were to depend upon the first and second Conjunction. I am the rather confirmed herein, in regard the next Conjunction which followeth in this Trigon will be in Leo, the same sign wherein the second Conjunction was after their first entrance herein. That the third preceding was out of course, will plainly appear: For in Anno 1425. Saturn and Jupiter made their seventh return into the watry Trigon; and in the year 1603. they made their first entrance into the fiery Trigon. Now if we substra<sup>t</sup> 1425. out of 1603. the remainder is 178. whereas usually there is above 198. years space between the change of every Trigon; as will plainly appear, if we examine the time by some ancient Ephe-

meris;

A Prognostication.

meris. The first Conjunction of these grand Planets in the fiery Trigon, called by Astrologers the Seventh or Sabbatical return, was upon the seventh day of December, in the year 1603. Concerning the excellency of the Number Seven, I could say much, which for brevities sake I shall omit. It's the Number of the Sabbath, wherefore any rational man may judge, that some notable work concerning Religion will follow after. And without doubt, not onely Europe, but the whole World, will in due time be concerned therein. One thing considerable, as to our Nation, did follow this Conjunction, which was, the happy uniting of England and Scotland by the coming in of King James. The second Conjunction in this fiery Trigon was upon the seventh of July 1623. near the seventh degree of Leo, (a Regal fixed sign, being the House of the Sun) and in the Terms of Mercury: During the effects of this Conjunction, we had both peace and plenty in our land; also we were often courted by many Embassadours, desiring a continuance of Amity and Friendship. Also we had, during the effects, great plenty of Gold; for the Sun, in whose House these Planets met, is Lord of that Metal; and I my self have oft-times given money to a Goldsmith to have Silver for Gold. And as the fifth House (according unto Longitude) wherein these Planets met, is the joy of Venus; so there was during the effects many merry sports frequent in our land, as Stage-playes, Interludes, Morris-dancing, Revelling, King ales, Mumming, and such like. The third Conjunction of those grand Planets was upon the fifteenth of February 1643. between the 25 and 26 degrees of Pisces, a sign of the watry Trigon, the Night-house of Jupiter. This Conjunction falling out of course, in an aquatick sign, did quench and allay all those general good accidents which those two former Conjunctions did fore-shew to happen and
con-

continue, as I have before in some measure expressed. What followed after this Conjunction out of course, this Nation, as well as others, was made sensible of; as the Comet appearing in Anno 1618. did plainly in some measure fore-shew. This Conjunction falling within five degrees of Aries, the first and chiefest sign of the fiery Trigon, (being the Ascendant of England, France, and many other places) did cause the effects most especially to fall upon those under the fiery Triplicity. What this Nation did unde go during the effects, is fresh in the memory of many thousands yet living: What Civil Wars and strange alterations both in Church and State there was during the effects, would be too tedious here to insert. And 'tis worthy our note to observe what followed after, when Saturn and Jupiter made their first entrance into the watry Trigon in Anno 1425. which in the Chronicles plainly appears; a Wars, great alteration of Laws, and many grievous Heresies. But the most remarkable thing was, that under this Triplicity the Mahometan Religion began. And as this Monarchy had its first rising under this Triplicity, wherein this Nation, and many others under the fiery Trigon, did so extremely suffer; so in all probability will these Mahometans, being the common Enemy of Christians, prove to be that Foreign Enemy which in my Observation upon the great Conjunction I do predict will do such inhumane things. And 'tis observable, that the Moon was in platick opposition to Saturn and Jupiter at the time of this great Conjunction, which makes it more plainly appear: For under the dominion of the Moon is all Africa, and Constantinople, which is the chief Seat of the Turk. Also the Cognizance of the Turk is the Moon, which they carry in their Banners or Ensigns. And 'tis observable, that immediately after Saturn and Jupiter was conjoynd in the watry Trigon, in Anno 1525.

A Prognostication,

Rome was sack'd, and Pope Clement with his Cardinals were imprisoned. And immediately after Saturn and Jupiter made their Conjunction in the watry Trigon, in Anno 1583. the Spaniard prepared a mighty Fleet to invade our Land, and accordingly did endeavour the same, although to his great loss and damage in Anno 1588. I could have enlarged my self much more here-upon, which for brevities sake I shall omit.

I shall now in brief proceed to give my judgment upon the last great Conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter, which happened Octob. 10. 1663. the effects of which Conjunction will not terminate until twenty years be expired. But for the better confirmation of our judgment herein, it will be necessary to observe what may be collected from the preventional full Moon, and postventional new Moon; and from the Eclipse next preceding, being August 22. 1663. at evening, which which was manifest to those who live in Nova Francia, Granada, and places bordering upon Virginia; at which moment of time I find the third degree of Aries ascending, and the first degree of Capricorn culminating: the Planets thus posited; Saturn and Jupiter in Sagittary, in the eighth house; the Sun eclipsed in Virgo, a sign intercepted, in the sixth house; Venus and Mercury both in conjunction in Leo, in the sixth; Mars in Cancer, in the fourth, separating from the square of Jupiter to the conjunction of the Sun eclipsed, and from thence to the square of Saturn. This Eclipse is as it were the Prodromi or Fore-runner of that great Conjunction which was to follow after; I find the four Angles of the Figure possessed with Cardinal and moveable signs, and the Eclipse in a humane sign; which argueth, that man and mankind shall be both passive and active during the effects; and most especially those who are the chiefest amongst men, and of highest power and authority both Ecclesiastical and Civil.

Blagrave. 1665,

Concerning the Lord or Lords of this Eclipse, I find Mars, and next Mercury to be most strong and powerfull, as having most Dignities in the Ascendant, Mid-heaven, and place of the Luminaries. When Mars and Mercury are Lords of an Eclipse, they fore-shew great wars and slaughters of men, fires, murders, depopulations, imprisonments, captivities, insurrections, rebellions, violence, hatred, and oppression, treacheries, and all manner of miseries and mischiefs incident to War; and much of these mischiefs will be done under pretence of Religion: for Mars is in the Terms of Jupiter. This Eclipse, according to our late observations, falls between the second and third Face of Leo, the Ascendant of Rome, which threatneth captivities, besieging and ransacking of Cities, Towns, and Castles, Churches, Religious Houses, and such like places, with much profanation thereof. And according unto the old account, as it falls in the first decanate of Virgo, it fore-sheweth death, or some sad disaster, to befall some Man or Men of great Power and Authority in those Countreys concerned. I am the rather confirmed herein, for that I find Saturn Lord of the tenth, is in the eighth.

And whereas I find Saturn Lord of the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth Houses; and Jupiter, Lord of Pisces, intercepted in the twelfth; and both Saturn and Jupiter in the eighth, yet in the constellation of Sagittary, on the cusp of the ninth House; argueth that not onely men of greatest power Temporal, but most especially in Ecclesiastical affairs, will be most passive during the effects; also it fore-sheweth death and captivity unto many of them, and that many will be forced to forsake their dwellings, and to take long journeys and voyages: also Neighbours will be private mischievous enemies, and shall be most spitefull and malicious, betraying each other unto the mercy of their enemies; and yet under colour of Religion. And as this defect falls in the sixth House in a humane sign, it argueth not only sickness and great grief unto many, but also a great falling away of Subjects from their Kings, Princes, and principal Governours; Servants from their Lords and Masters, much damage being occasioned unto them thereby. And as Venus, Lady of the seventh, is joyned with Mercury, Lord of the sixth, in the sixth House; argueth that mens Wives shall joyn with their Servants, and other inferior Knaves against their Husbands. Also many women shall be disobedient unto their Husbands, not caring what becomes of them. And whereas Mars, Lord of the Ascendant and eighth, is in the fourth, in a watry sign, it argueth much loss and damage unto such who live or move upon the waters.

In the next place I shall desire the Reader to take notice of what may be collected from the figure of the preventional full Moon preceding this great Conjunction: Wherein I find Gemini 26 ascending, Aquarius 29 culminating; the Planets thus posited: Saturn and Jupiter hastening to conjunction in Sagittary, the sign on the seventh House; the Moon in Aries, in the eleventh House, hastening from the trine of Mars to the opposition of the Sun; Mercury, Lord of the Ascendant, in the sixth, retrograde, peregrine, and cadent from his House; Mars in Leo in square to Mercury; the degree ascending being the Terms of Mars; the Dragons tail in the tenth, in the House of Saturn: All which considered, it can portend no good, but rather the contrary; for the square of Mars unto Mercury must needs fore-shew all those mischiefs and miseries to follow, as is before expressed in my judgment upon the Eclipse before-going, and is rather increased then any way diminished; which to repeat over again, would be time lost.

I shall now proceed to give a brief judgment upon the great Conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter before-

mentioned; which Conjunction was between the 13 and 14 degrees of Sagittary, and in the 20th mansion of the Moon. This sign or Constellation, according unto Longitude, may properly be called the ninth House; for let the Ascendant be what it will, the sign Sagittary, and Jupiter the Lord thereof, shall be significators of the ninth House; which House is by Astrologers termed the House of Religion. And without doubt, this great Conjunction doth fore-shew some wonderfull work to be done in future, most especially concerning Religion. At the time of this great Conjunction, I find Mercury, Lord of the Ascendant of the prevention-al Figure, both retrograde, and peregrine, in square to Mars, and disposed by Mars, who is in the house of the Lion, and he in square, the other in opposition to Aquarius, the day-house of Saturn, who is weak, peregrine, and cadent from his exaltation; yet exalted above Jupiter, and both conjoyned in the ninth (as aforesaid.) Also I find at the time of this Conjunction the Moon in opposition to both. From whence I do collect, that notwithstanding there appeareth much good to follow in due time, by reason Jupiter is strong in the Figure, disposing of Saturn in his House; yet before that comes to pass, I find that all those mischiefs incident unto Mars and Mercury, which is in part before expressed, are like to befall many of those people under the dominion of Sagittarius, Aquarius, Capricorn, Pisces, and part of their Triplicities. What those Countreys are, would be too tedious here to insert, for they are many; not onely in Europe, but also Asia and Africa. When Mars and Mercury shall combine in mischief, they threaten great wars and slaughters of men, besieging of Cities, Towns, and Castles, fires, murders, captivities, depopulations, rebellions, insurrections, treacheries, imprisonments, and such like cruelties. And as this Conjunction was in a noble, majestic

A Prognostication,

sign, so will the chiefeſt amongst men be concerned; there will come ſuch amongst them, whoſe hearts ſhall be vile, doing moſt horrible things, not onely unto the living, as carrying them away captive into other Countreys, robbing and ſpoiling them of their goods and treaſure, but alſo unto the dead, ſpoiling and defacing ancient Monuments and Sepulchres. And as this great Conjunction was in the 20th mansion of the Moon, it threatneth great calamity unto many, by being put into ſtrong holds, and imprifoned. Alſo it argueth great decay unto many wealthy Societies, moſt eſpecially in Religion, and compelleth many to wander into far Countreys and ſtrange places. And whereas I find Mars at the time of this Conjunction in the ſign Leo, a ſign wherein they were conjoynd at their ſecond meeting in the fiery Trigon, after which there followed peace and plenty; ſo now in ſtead thereof there is like to follow war, bloodſhed, and ſcarcity, with many other calamities, as is before expreſſed. The oppoſition of the Moon to theſe grand Planets at the time of their conjunction, argueth, that multitudes of Subjects and inferiours will fall from their Kings, Princes, and Superiours, both in Temporal and Eccleſiaſtical affairs, in thoſe Countreys ſubject to the ſigns, and part of their Triplicities before-mentioned. I find Italy, Rome, and places near adjoyning will be much concerned. And whereas I find at the time of this great Conjunction, Venus in the Scorpion, a moſt peſtilential Sign, diſpoſed by Mars, who caſteth his hateful ſquare thereunto, it argueth much miſery and affliction is like to befall many perſons under the dominion of Venus, whether Wives, Maids, or Harlots, by reſolute and rude Souldiers, ſome being deſlowred, others gotten with child, and many groſſly miſuſed and abuſed both in body and goods. And whereas Venus at the time of this great Conjunction was in platick conjunction to thoſe grand Planets, yet immedi-

immediately after is first stationary, then retrograde, and afterward never cometh into partile conjunction: From whence it appeareth, that many shall seem willing to he'p, aid, and defend those people so intralld, but they will fall away, and in conclusion never help them at all, being disheartened, and fearing the like calamities to befall themselves; for Venus by retrograde motion falls next into the Scorpion, a most pestilent sign, and Mars at the time of this great conjunction did cast his hateful square thereunto: So that it plainly appears, that those expected hoped for friends are like to fall into the like calamity, not being able to help themselves. In the next place, it will be very considerable to discover who this common Enemy is, that shall do such inhumane things as is before expressed; which the Moon, Lady of Cancer, doth plainly shew, she being in apposition to those grand Planets at the time of their conjunction; for under the dominion of Cancer and the Moon is all Africa, also Constantinople, which is the chief Seat of the Turk, who for his Arms or Cognizance giveth the Moon, which he carries in his Banners or Ensigns; and 'tis not unknown what great mischief he hath done already in many Countreys, Cities, and places subject to those signs, and part of their Triplicities before-mentioned. Yet notwithstanding those great and many achievements and wonders wrought by this potent Enemy the Turk, he shall never accomplish a full conquest, but shall suddenly and unexpectedly be ruined and vanquished, as by the postventional Figure doth appear: For in the Scheam thereof, I find Leo 12. ascending, Aries 23. culminating: the Planets thus placed; The Sun, Moon, and Mercury in the Scorpion, in the fourth House; Saturn, Jupiter, and Venus, in Sagittary, in the fifth House, (but in the preventional Figure in the seventh House;) Mars in Leo, in the Ascendant, in trine to Saturn, Jupiter, and Venus, and in reception with the Sun
by

A Prognostication.

by House, and disposeth of the Sun, Moon and Mercury; the Moon being weak, peregrine, and in her fall, besieged of the Sun and Mercury; all the Planets subterranean, except Mars, who is within two degrees of the Ascendant ascending: From whence I do collect, that a sudden and unexpected division shall befall those numerous Armies of the Turk, and that a great and mighty battle shall be fought, wherein multitudes shall be slain: Then shall many of those Kings, Princes, and others of great power, who were under the tribute of the Turk, decline and leave him, and shall adhere and take part with a prevailing Army, who shall about that time appear under the dominion of Mars. This is that Monarch or first beginner of that Monarchy who shall be called The Lion of the North, who shall destroy the remainder of those wicked ones, together with Antichrist, mentioned in my Ephemeris in Anno 1659. and 1660. (now more fully discovered.) This is that Lion mentioned in *Esdra*s, which shall come forth of the Wood to rebuke the Eagle, who hath flown so high, both in Title and Conquest. This is he who shall begin the mighty work of Conquest and Reformation throughout the world: After which, those peaceable and happy days and times, signified by Jupiter in trine to Mars, shall appear; never more wars shall be. The truth is, many Astrologers have mentioned this Lion of the North, all agreeing that such a Monarchy will arise out of the North part of the World; but out of what Countrey, Nation, or Kingdom, they do not agree. If he arise out of the fiery Trigon, which is most probable, then it is most agreeable unto reason that he should come forth of these Northern Isles of Great Britain: For Mars, who is in the Ascendant, and the most potent Planet in the postventional Figure, as having most Dignities in the Ascendant, Mid-heaven, and places of the Luminaries, is not onely Lord of Aries, the first and chiefeft sign of the fiery Trigon, Englands Ascendant, but also sole Governour of the watry Trigon by day and night, wherein Scotland is concerned, as being under the dominion of Cancer. But I presume many would willingly know when those happy and peaceable days signified by Jupiter might be. To such I answer, There must be a general Conquest throughout the most habitable places of the World, before there can be a general Peace sealed; which to accomplish, will take up some years: For, according unto the old saying, the World is wide; yet there is no question, but that some Kingdoms and Countreys will have peace sooner then other. Should we mount up a little higher, to the Hermeticke Learning, agreeing therein with Cornelius Agrippa, an excellent Philosopher, it will be near 56 years before this general Conquest and Settlement of Peace throughout the World will be finished: About which time, Haniel the Angel-guardian of Venus doth cease to reign, and Zidkuel the Angel-guardian of Jupiter doth begin to take place. This great blessing of Peace may come sooner then we do expect; for it's said in Holy Writ, That for the El-ets sake times shall be hastned. And the truth is, there is some difference amongst Astrologers concerning the beginning of time, accounting from the Creation, from whence we derive our judgment herein. But according unto those general accidents already past since the beginning of the Government of Venus, this account seemeth most rational, and is without question the most exact account now extant, which time will make manifest. As concerning the incipiential time and termination of the effects of this great Conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter; as in Eclipses (for this Conjunction is in the nature of an Eclipse of the Sun, which is but the conjunction of the Sun and Moon, to inferiour Planets, in regard of

of their Spheres ) its most agreeable to Reason, they should immediately begin to operate ; agreeing herein with Organus, whose words are these, Consentaneum namque est eclipses statim operari, & effectus suos aliquamque extendere : It is agreeable to Reason, that Eclipses should immediately operate , and that they should extend their effects accordingly. And as concerning the duration of the effects, experience tells us, taking but notice of the other two Conjunctions going before, whose effects are yet fresh in the memory of many thousands yet living, besides my self, that we can allot no less time then twenty years, it being the space of time between each Conjunction of these grand Planets; and in my Epistle to the Reader, you may find, that the effects of those two fore-going Conjunctions did last much about that space of time, as there appeareth. The effects of this great Conjunction for many reasons may last longer, but hardly less ; for in an Eclipse of the Sun, the duration of its effects are not worth the naming which doth not last until the next Eclipse following : But considering that many Eclipses and Years Revolutions will follow before the effects of this great Conjunction is over, I shall at present acquiesce herein.

CONCERNING Eclipses, there will be five this year, whereof three will be of the Sun, and two of the Moon. I shall onely take notice of the first two, which will be in the Moneth of January. The one will be a non-visible Eclipse of the Sun, upon January 6. at 7 a Clock in the morning ; and will be seen by those in Arabia the Happy, Ormus, Zacotora, Siras, and the Isle of Palandare, and about the Indian Sea. The other, a visible Eclipse of the Moon, to be seen here in England; both Figure and Type thereof followeth.

The begin. of this Eclipse at a little past 4 a clock in the morn.
 The greatest obscuratation at a little past 5.
 The end and full recovery of Moon-light, at a little past 7.
 The digits eclipsed five.

When two Eclipses shall happen in one month, we can expect no less then great events to follow after in the world, especially in those places subject therunto, wherein the defect happeneth.
 The Ascendant of this Eclipse being in the same sign, and near the same degree as the Eclipse of the Sun preceding, and all in the same month, the effects I find to be near one; wherefore I shal give my judgment only on this Lunar Eclipse, joyning herewith that Solar eclipse. Concerning the Lord of this Eclipse, I find Mars most powerful and strong, as having most dignities in the Ascendant, Mid-heaven, and places of the Luminaries;
 and Saturn next to take place, When Mars is Lord of an eclipse, it sheweth wars, tumults, murders, fires, depopulations, captivi-ties, imprisonments, great slaughters of men, violence, oppression,
 and

and intestine hatred, sudden death, and all other mischiefs incident to war. And as Saturn is next to take place, he fore-sheweth miseries and calamities near as bad as the other; as exiles, shipwracks, diseases, scarcity of grain and fruit, damage by locusts, caterpillars, and such like vermin, with famine; also death unto many of the elder sort, and much misery and sadness to those under his dominion, whether Ecclesiastical or Temporal. This Eclipse will work most forcibly upon those Countreys under Leo, Aquarius, and part of their Triplicities. And whereas the defect hapneth in Leo, and that of the Sun preceding in Aquarius, it argueth that the chiefeft amongst men shall be most concerned. And whereas I find most of the Planets in the Ascendant, and old Saturn their dispositor in the twelfth, as in the Eclipse of the Sun preceding more fully appeareth, it argues that not onely a forreign enemy, but also neighbours and acquaintance shall prove enemies as vile as the other, joyning with, aiding and assisting them, helping to bring ruine and destruction upon them, as is before expressed. And whereas Mercury Lord of the 5th. is in the Ascendant with the Lord of the 11th. it argueth that many Ambassadors and messengers shall be employed, but to no purpose, for Mercury is near the Dragons tail. And whereas the Eclipse preceding of the Sun was (according to the new account) in the third face of Sagittary, it argueth various mischief by Armies to men and beasts; or take it according to the old account, it sheweth the tumultuous motions of a King or Kings, with famine and scarcity of victuals. And as this Eclipse of the Moon falls (according to the old account) in the second face of Leo, it shews the motion of a King or Kings, with various mutations: As (according to the new account) it falls in the third decanat of Cancer, it argues sudden destruction, with death or sad disasters to many of the female sex. This being a matutine Eclipse, in the West angle, the effects will hardly begin to operate till the latter end of July, when the Sun comes to the place where the Moon was eclipsed. The effects continue about three months; but in regard the Suns eclipse is much concerned here in, I presume the effects will continue the longer.

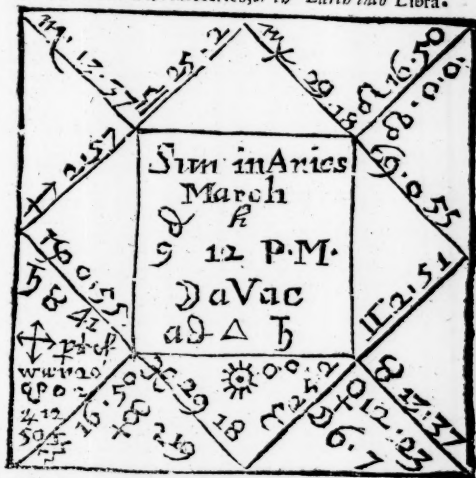

There will be three Eclipses more besides these two I have already mentioned. One will be visible in our Horizon; but so small, that it will hardly be discerned. Its upon July 16. at midnight. There will be one eclipse of the Sun, July 2. which will be seen by those who travel the Peruvian Ocean, near the Equinoctial circle; likewise at Nova Hispania, Granada, and the Isle of Cocos. The fifth and last Eclipse is on Decemb. 26. near 9 a clock in the morning; this will be a great Eclipse, the Sun being being almost totally darkned, and will be conspicuous to those who inhabit the Southern parts of Africk, the Islands Madagafcar and De-los-Romeros, and by those who travel near the Promontory of Good Hope in the Ethiopian Ocean.

The Revolutional Figure of the world for the exact time of the Sun's Entrance into Aries, or the Earth into Libra.

Concerning the chief Lord or Almuten of the Figure, the preventional and postventional Figures considered, I find Mars most strong and powerful; and Jupiter next to take place, being but three testimonies inferiour; which I presume will somewhat allay those evils portended by him, especially to our Nation, Jupiter being Lord of the Ascendant at the Ingres. Also I find by the preventional Figure, that some League of Friendship will in short time be concluded between our Nation and some Enemy under the watry Trigon, Turk, Hollander, or both. And though Mars by his evil influence may presage wars and scarcity, yet Jupiter by his good influence (being next in strength) the weath

A Prognostication.

sheweth peace and plenty; so that if any distempers should arise, the nearnels of Jupiter will soon allay the same. Mars in trine to Jupiter, and the Sun strong in the fourth, argueth a fruitfull year, especially the first half; for the Ascendant at the Ingrefs being a common sign, giveth no longer assurance. By the postventional figure I find, that although some particular men may be displeased concerning Taxes, or Religion, yet in general there appeareth a hopeful pleasant Summer. Thus much in brief I find concerning our Nation.

Concerning the general affairs of the World, whereas I find Mars Lord or Almuten in this Revolutionary Figure, and in Pisces the twelfth sign (accounting from Aries, according to Longitude) Lord of Scorpio, a sign ascending on the cusp of the twelfth, it argueth great wars and troubles this year, in those Countreys and places, according to what I have already declared in the fore-going observations upon the great Conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter. And it is observable, That when any notable Conjunction or ill position of any evil Planet in any Revolutionary Figure hath been in the watry Trigon, especially Pisces, great mutations and grand mischiefs have followed, which in part I have already discoursed concerning those Conjunctions in the watry Trigon. The Planets all subterranean at the Ingrefs, argueth that private, dark, and dangerous counsels are on foot in the affairs of the world. The part of War in the second, in the House of Saturn, disposed by Saturn, who is strong in his House (the tenth according to longitude) argueth that Kings, Princes, and men of great power, shall in warlike manner be chiefly concerned, to their great charge and expence; for the Dragons tail in the second, confirmeth the same.

Some Instructions concerning the Amity and Enmity of the Planets, mentioned in my Monthly Observations.

IF you desire to visit any friend, Male or Female, one Planet shall personate both sexes in Questions of this nature. First, you must take notice what Planet is most properly Lord of your own person, by shape, or profession; concerning which, you may be plentifully furnished in my Ephemeris for 1658, 1659, or 1660. sold by Mr. Brooks at the Angel in Cornhill. Secondly, observe what Planet belongs to your friend, by the Rule aforesaid. If your own Planet, and the Planet representing your friend, be in friendly aspect to each other, by trine, sextile, or conjunction, you may then expect friendship during the time set down in the months observations, under the title of the Amity and Enmity of the Planets: But if the Planets be squaring or opposing, expect little friendship, but rather wrangling and difference; and the Planet set down strongest shall prevail, at Law, or otherwise.
